Harnessing Head Trash

Heighten your self-awareness to better understand how self-limiting thoughts and beliefs can sabotage your well-being. Learn how to identify and trash these destructive patterns.

Managing & Understanding Grief in the Workplace & Schools

$300 Billion - That's the annual amount Grief and Mental Health Challenges cost US Organizations (Grief Index). By learning the myths of grief and understanding everyone's grief journey is unique, organizations can Uplevel the wellbeing of their employees and create a supportive inclusive culture where grief is included and honored. Make your workplace grief safe. Our training for employees, educators, and community leaders helps organizations understand, train and support their people through individual and collective grief.

Resiliency

We use cutting-edge leadership and relationship development strategies by combining ancient energy tools that integrate the whole person to improve resiliency to face adversity and the challenges of these modern times.
